The primary factors that can affect the future financial condition of the Company include the continued ability to raise equity capital and the level of exploration expenditures required to meet commitments. As a mineral exploration company with no current production or revenue from mining operations, the Company's cash flows consist of cash outflows for administrative expenses, salaries, property acquisition and evaluation, exploration, development and filing fees. Financing activities, such as share issuances, result in cash inflows to the Company. Since inception, the Company has relied on capital markets (and in particular, equity markets) to fund its exploration activities, and expects to continue to rely on these markets in 2007 and thereafter until one or more of its projects are in production.

Industry and Economic Factors Affecting Performance

As a mineral exploration and development company, Newmac's performance is affected by a number of industry and economic factors and exposure to certain environmental risks and regulatory requirements. These have been detailed in the Company's 2007 Annual MD&A.

RESULTS OF OPERATIONS

The Company's operations consist generally of mineral exploration and evaluation of new property acquisitions. This includes acquiring mineral properties, evaluating the merits of these properties using various techniques such as sampling, trenching geophysical and geochemical methods as well as drilling. The Company has no commercial production at this time, as a result, the Company's results of operations are a product of operating expenses.

During the six months ended March 31, 2008, the Company's net loss from operations was $495,863, an increase of $357,810 from $138,053 during the same period ended March 31, 2007. The Company's loss included expenditures as follows: accounting, legal, and professional fees of $44,395, which were result of fees associated with ongoing professional work done in relation with the Company's regulatory filings; travel and promotion of $31,072; transfer agent, listing, and filing fees of $72,627 relating to payments made to regulatory bodies in Canada; investor relations of $95,986 including expenses related to the agreement signed with Coal Harbor; stock based compensation of $158,875 due to incentive stock options granted in the period; management fees of $85,000; and office and general administrative expenses of $10,945.

The Company also incurred $2,623,982 in deferred exploration expenditures in the period ended March 31, 2008. Resource property costs consisted of administration, aircraft and fuel, assay and sampling, drilling, geological and field personnel, field supplies and rentals, recording fees and filing fees, reports and maps, and travel and accommodation related to the exploration activities. The increase in resource property costs incurred during the year is due to an increase in the exploration activity by the Company.

On the Bluff property a number of strong induced polarization anomalies (with chargeabilities sometimes in excess of 30 millivolts per volt (mv/V)) were identified in a geophysical program, some with high contrast magnetic anomalies indicating a number of linear features. 12 diamond drill holes (1,600 metres) were completed on the property during the fiscal year. Fractures of impressive mineralization were encountered, but none of the holes returned any economic grades as the fractures were not numerous enough. The company is currently reviewing all the data from this drill program and previous fieldwork.

Results have been received from the diamond drilling performed on the company's Chilanko copper project located in the Chilcotin region of B.C. near the village of Tatla Lake. Although no economically significant assays were returned, the company is sufficiently intrigued to complete additional induced polarization surveys, which commenced in February 2008. This survey covered approximately 40 km of grid lines, covering an area approximately 520 hectares or two square miles. This will extend the previous IP (induced polarization) survey 2.7 km eastward. The survey uncovered a number of new targets and the company is currently evaluating it's options.

On the Crazy Fox property the company continues to drill with the goal of extending the know mineralization. In late 2007 hole CF07-41 penetrated a low angle (thrust) fault at approximately 390 m (1280 feet) which elsewhere, forms the lower limit to molybdenum-tungsten mineralization. Below this fault, CF07-41 encountered mineralized intrusive rocks to the bottom of the hole at a depth of 1021m (3349 feet). Complete results for the hole are as follows:

Hole	From	To	Interval	Interval	MoS2	Mo	W
07-41	(m)	(m)	(m)	(ft)	(%)	(%)	(%)
Intercept	400.7	830.7	430	1410	0.17	0.10	0.01
Including	646.7	796.7	150	492	0.29	0.18	0.01
Including	708.7	756.7	48	157	0.48	0.29	0.01
Including	708.7	722.7	14	46	0.96	0.58	0.01

Hole CF 07-41 was designed to test the hypothesis that the lower limits to mineralization was a thrust fault and that a drill hole in the south western portion of the known mineralized body would intersect mineralized intrusive rock in the lower plate of the thrust extending the prospective area of molybdenum-tungsten mineralization for an unknown distance to the west, south and to depth.

The mineralization encountered can be described as both disseminated and stockwork in style, with molybdenite and wolframite occurring as disseminated blebs and streaks and in the selvages of centimeter scale quartz veinlets and smaller fractures trending in several orientations. Occasional veinlets of massive molybdenite up to several centimeters in width have also been noted.

The company resumed drilling the Crazy Fox property in January 2008. The drilling continues and assays will be reported as they are received. A number of holes have now been reported, which has resulted in the strike length of know mineralization of this new zone increasing to 300 m.

OFF BALANCE SHEET ARRANGEMENTS

The Company has not entered into off-balance sheet transactions.

TRANSACTIONS WITH RELATED PARTIES

During the six months ended March 31, 2008, the Company incurred management fees of $60,000 (2007 - $105,000) to David Hjerpe, the Company's CEO and former President. The Company also incurred transfer agent, filing and investor relations of $8,361, office and general of $2,203, travel and promotion of $31,072, and exploration costs in the amount of $66,530 to a director and a relative of the CEO of the Company. Also during the period, the Company incurred management fees of $26,000 (2007 - $NIL) to David Schmidt, the Company's newly appointed President. At March 31, 2008 the Company is indebted to the CEO in the amount of $1,517 and $NIL to the other related parties. These amounts are unsecured, non-interest bearing, and have no specific terms of repayment.

PROPOSED TRANSACTIONS

In the normal course of business, the Company evaluates property acquisition transactions and, in some cases, makes proposals to acquire such properties. These proposals, which are usually subject to Board, regulatory and, sometimes, shareholder approvals, may involve future payments, share issuances and property work commitments. These future obligations are usually contingent in nature and generally the Company is only required to incur the obligation if it wishes to continue with the transaction.

CRITICAL ACCOUNTING ESTIMATES

The preparation of financial statements in confirmation with the Canadian generally accepted accounting principles requires management to make estimate and assumptions that affect the reported amount of assets and liabilities and disclose of contingent assets and liabilities at the date of the financial statements and the reported amount of revenues and expenses during the period. Actual result may differ from those estimates.

Mineral Properties

The cost of mineral properties and related exploration and development costs are deferred until the properties are placed into production, sold or abandoned, or management has determined there has been an impairment in value. These costs will be amortized over the useful life of the properties following the commencement of commercial production or written off if the properties are sold, allowed to lapse, or abandoned. Properties acquired under option agreements, whereby payments are made at the sole discretion of the Company, are recorded in the accounts at such time as the payments are made. It is reasonably possible that economically recoverable reserves may not be discovered and accordingly a material portion of the carrying value of mineral properties and related deferred exploration costs could be written off. Although the Company has taken steps to verify title to mineral properties in which it has an interest, according to the usual industry standards for the stage of exploration of such properties, these procedures do not guarantee the Company's title. Such properties may be subject to prior agreements or transfers and title may be affected by undetected title defects.

Share Capital

Proceeds from the sale of flow-through shares are credited to share capital. The resource expenditure deductions for income tax purposes related to exploration and development activities funded by flow-through share arrangements are renounced to investors in accordance with Canadian income tax legislation. Future income taxes related to temporary differences arising on renunciation of expenditures to subscribers are recognized as a reduction of income tax expense in the statement of loss and deficit on the date that the Company renounces the deductions for investors. During the year ended September 30, 2007, the Company recorded a recovery of future income tax of $224,448 with respect to renounced flow-through shares totaling $657,800. The Company recognizes all transactions in which goods or services are the consideration received for the issuance of equity instruments based on the fair value of the consideration received or the fair value of the equity instrument issued, whichever is more reliably measurable.

CHANGES IN ACCOUNTING POLICIES INCLUDING INITIAL ADOPTION

On May 1, 2007, in accordance with the application transitional provisions, the Company adopted without restating prior periods, the new recommendations of the CICA Handbook included in Section 3855 “Financials Instruments – Recognition and Measurement”, Section 3865, “Hedges”, Section 1530 “Comprehensive Income” and Section 3861 “Financial Instruments – Disclosure and Presentation”. Sections 3855 and 3861 deal with the classifications, recognition, measurement, presentation and disclosure of financial instruments and non-financial derivatives in the financial statements. Section 3865 deals with the standards for when and how hedge accounting may be applied, Section 1530 deals with the presentation of comprehensive income and Section 3251 deals with the presentation of equity and changes in equity for the period.

Adoption of these recommendations has the following impacts on the classification and measurement of the Company’s financial instruments:

- Cash and cash equivalents and short term investments are classified as “held-for-trading”. They are measured at fair value and changes in fair value are recognized in earnings.
- Accounts payable, accrued liabilities, and amounts due to related parties are classified as other financial liabilities and are measured at cost.

FINANCIAL INSTRUMENTS AND OTHER INSTRUMENTS

The Company currently does not own, hold or have any material interest in, or liability associated with, any financial or other instruments.

Management is responsible for establishing and maintaining disclosure controls and procedures for the Company.
